HERRING NEWS.

Dec. 2

Items of Much Interest from the Western Star.

Tells of Vessels Loading and the Recent Storm.

From that bright little sheet, the Bay of Islands Western Star of last Wednesday, we clip the following items which we know will be of interest to our readers:

"Since last report there has been little better fishing in the bay, but it has been chiefly confined to Middle Arm, where good fares were secured the latter part of the week. One American vessel with ten dories caught 32 barrels in two days. Other vessels fared equally as well and the industry put on its wonted activity.

"The American vessels sch. Tattler, with 2300 bbls. in bulk and 200 in barrels, and sch. H. M. Stanley with 1600 barrels, 150 of which were barreled, sailed on Sunday. Schs. Jennie B. Hodgdon and Corsair finished loading on Monday. Sch. Golden Rod with 1150 barrels frozen fish and 175 barrels in bulk, will load today. Sch. Edna W. Hopper had 1100 bbls. on Saturday, sch. Parthia 800, and sch. Ralph F. Hodgdon with five dories had 600 bbls. There are 33 American vessels here, and 14 Lunenburgers.

"Sch. A. E. Whyland left Gloucester on Monday of last week, and the W. E. Morrissey on Wednesday. Mr. F. Beazley informs us that he dispatched sch. Laurel to Halifax yesterday with a cargo of 1575 barrels, 1400 of which were in bulk."

Sch. Tattler Hove Down.

"Sch. Tattler when coming out of Middle Arm Saturday had a narrow escape. A squall of wind struck her at 7.30 p. m., causing her to heel over so that it was feared she would never come up again, and water poured down the cabin. There were a great many men on the vessel and excitement ran high for a while."

Lost Nets in Storm.

"Capt. Shaw is reported to have lost nine nets, and Capt. Butt 11 nets, and one American vessel."

Schs. Edward A. Rich and Ralph E. Eaton have gone to the Maine coast for frozen herring cargoes. Some herring have been frozen there this season and Capt. Rufus McKay of this city is down there in an old vessel for a cargo.

SALT HERRING FARES.

Three Vessels Here Today from Bay of Islands.

American Vessels Make Quick Passages Despite Bad Weather.

Sch. Tattler, Capt. Albert Hudder, arrived here at midnight on Saturday from Bay of Islands, N. F., with the largest cargo of salt herring ever brought from that place.

Dec. 4

The Tattler left Woody Island a week ago yesterday and notwithstanding the terrible weather at sea and the fact that Capt. Hudder calls it the hardest and roughest passage he ever make from Newfoundland, the trip was made in very quick time, the craft being less than a week on the way.

Some idea of how hard the Tattler was driven can be seen from the fact that a Nova Scotia vessel which left ten days ahead of her for this port has not yet arrived here.

Capt. Hudder says it was a rough passage from start to finish. The vessel was very deeply laden, and when she was coming out of the Middle Arm Saturday evening, a squall struck her, and for a while it looked as though the craft would founder. The squall struck her square and even heavily laden as she was, she went down until water came in the cabin. It seemed as though she would never come up, but she gradually righted herself and the danger was over.

Since leaving Woody Island on Sunday afternoon nothing but bad weather was encountered every mile of the way. Fierce head winds and heavy seas met her, but she was kept coming. A very severe gale was encountered a little to the westward of Whitehead, N. S., on Wednesday, so severe in fact that the craft was hove to for 17 hours before the wind abated so that sail could be made. The rest of the passage was rough and stormy, but the Tattler came along without accident.

Her big fare will be divided between several of the smoking concerns.

Sch. Henry M. Stanley, which also sailed for home on Sunday afternoon, arrived here last evening, Capt. Henry Arsenaault having kept her coming all the time and making a fine passage in the face of gales and continuous bad weather.

Capt. Arsenaault says that it was a very rough passage, but the worst of it came last Wednesday, when a terrific gale caught the craft about 30 miles to the westward off Whitehead, N. S. For 17 hours the Stanley was hove too and the gale raged with terrific violence. The rest of the passage was also very rough and stormy. The Stanley has 1500 barrels of salt herring for William H. Jordon & Co.

The British sch. Aldine arrived here this forenoon from Bay of Islands, with a full cargo of salt herring, which is on the market. The Alpine has been a long time on the way, having sailed from Bay of Islands November 11. She encountered much bad weather.

LETTER FROM PENSACOLA.

Weather Has Been Bad There for Fishing Fleet.

Many Familiar Names in List of Arrivals There.

A letter from the attentive correspondent of the TIMES at Pensacola, Florida, dated December 4, states that arrivals have been very few for the past eight days. The weather has been very bad and northwest gales have prevailed. There appears to be plenty of fish but the fishermen cannot get weather to work on this coast.

From Campeache Bank have come the following vessels with red snapper fares:

Sch. Maud Spurling, Capt. Salveido Monti, 4000 fish, share $41.
Sch. Frances H., Capt. Abner Sadler, 5000 fish, share $40.90.
Sch. Lettie G. Howard, Capt. Hans Johnson, 4000 fish, share $37.70.
Sch. Kivasind, Capt. Robert Edmondson, 2200 snappers and 1000 groopers, share $20.15.
Sch. Dixie, from East Pass, with fresh bait, 3000 pounds.

Sch. Frances and Louise, Capt. Albert Nauss, put in on account of bad weather, with no fish.

Sch. Kivasind carried away her foretopmast on her last trip and also burst her flying stay sail.

Sch. Caviare, Capt. John Constantine, fishing on this shore, brought in 1500 shappers, share $12.

Plenty of vessels are now due which have been out three weeks. It is very cold here at the present time, with ice everywhere.

Capt. Thomas Forristal is to take command of sch. Davy Crockett on his next trip in, for V. Halat & Co.

People Leaving St. Pierre.

The second contingent from St. Pierre bound for France by the Liverpool route, arrived at Placentia on Saturday in the steamer Amelia and reached St. John's, N. F., last Wednesday. They report the island as in dire straits; every trip of the steamer to Sydney from 100 to 200 persons leave while all who can possibly get back to France are trying to do so. During the past two months it is estimated that 1000 persons left St. Pierre, never to return. This it is claimed at St. John's is entirely due to the failure of the fishery, the inability of the bankers to get bait as in the past and the loss of trade with Newfoundland, by the greater vigilance of the preventive officers along the coasts. Of business, these people say, there is little or none. The action of the Newfoundland government in enforcing the bait act and other laws is said by these people to be the cause of St. Pierre's downfall.
